TALK OF THE TOWN

The new line of Buella stamped goods has arrived at Fitts'. James Mackie has gone to Troy, N. Y., where he is making a visit of several days.

Miss Beatrice Callaghan of North Main street is passing several days with friends in Corinth.

Stovepipe and elbows, all kinds of stove blackings, stoves, repairs of all kinds. E. A. Prindle Co.

Miss Wilhelmina Ewen of Orange street has returned to the city, after passing several weeks in Chelsea.

For the latest song hits see the window display at Martin's Book Store. Songs demonstrated on victrola. Ask for catalogue.

Miss Gladys Grogan of Brook street left this morning for Waterbury and Richmond to visit relatives and friends for the next few days.

Regular meeting of the Barre lodge of the New England Order of Protection to-night. The report of the work done by the special deputy, J. B. Harris, will be given.

Miss Anna Robertson, who is employed in the office of the water superintendent at city hall, returned this morning from a visit of several days in Boston and vicinity.

H. B. Blossom, Hudson Beatie, Lowell Drown and Ernest Fletcher have gone to Barton, where they are in charge of an automobile and engine exhibit at the Orleans county fair.

Dr. E. H. Bancroft is in attendance at the annual convention of the American Veterinary Medical association at Detroit, Mich., this week. He is expected home by the week-end.

Robert W. Simonds, chairman of the state industrial accident board, returned to his home in St. Johnsbury yesterday, after having passed the day in Barre, where a hearing was held in the morning.

Miss Ida M. Cook of South Main street, who is taking a vacation from her duties as chief operator in the central office of the Vermont Tel. & Tel. Co., is visiting her brother, George H. Cook, in Wolcott.

At the Congregational church vestry to-morrow forenoon at 9:30 o'clock, Miss Bessie M. Thayer, assistant in the department of agriculture and home economics of the state agricultural extension service, will give a canning demonstration of meats and vegetables for the school girls of Barre. Miss Thayer comes under the auspices of the Barre Woman's club. A large attendance of the girls is looked for, as the subject will be of much interest.

John T. Callaghan has abandoned the idea of venturing into the theatrical business. At the regular fortnightly session of the city council last evening nothing was said of the opera house lease, as it was understood that Mr. Callaghan was not to have the contract unless he should furnish a bond. Before the meeting, however, Mr. Callaghan informed members of the council that several persons had advised him to keep out of theatricals. He did not have his bond ready and unless the council was willing to do business with him on a 50-50 basis, he expected to follow the advice of his friends. A week ago Mr. Callaghan put in a bid of $1,200 for the theatre and was awarded the lease with the reservation that a bond be furnished. His failure to comply with this provision leaves the lease business where it rested early in the summer.

At the regular meeting of the school commission last evening a number of warrants were approved for payment and some of the odds and ends of business that must be cleaned up before the school sessions begin received attention. Unless occasion arises, there will not be another meeting of the board until after the schools are reopened, as the regular meetings are held on the third Tuesday in each month. The personnel of the 60 and more men and women comprising the teaching staff has not been changed since the list was completed and published early in the summer and unless the unexpected happens all of the teachers engaged will be in their places when the bell rings on the morning of Tuesday, Sept. 5. The evening drawing school will open in October and continue to May 1.

A row among Sunday picnickers at the city park on the Merchant street extension had its sequel in city court late yesterday afternoon when Andrew Koski paid a $5 fine and costs of $6.20 for his part in the rumpus. It was alleged by the police that Koski mollygubbed a comrade Sunday afternoon. He was arrested by Officer J. S. Murley on a complaint made to Grand Juror William Wishart. Martin Norton of Montpelier, who created a ripple of excitement on North Main street yesterday by going through a series of gymnastics with his hat and a club, acknowledged an intoxication offense when arraigned before Magistrate H. W. Scott to-day, disclosed on a North Main street vender, and went to jail the alternative sentence of $15 and costs. Norton was seriously ill last night and the services of City Physician Dr. P. S. Duffy were required at police headquarters.
